Pension payable to central government employees

783. SHRI SUSH1LKUMAR SAMBHAJIRAO SHINDE:
SHRI SATCHIDANANDA:

Will the PRIME MINISTER be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that a part of pension payable to Central Government employees for 10 years is commuted and paid in advance at the time of retirement/ superannuation, but payment of full pension commences only after a lapse of 15 years of retirement, and not after 10 years by when the advance paid is fully recovered;

(b) if so, what are the reasons for this disparity;

(c) what percentage of retired employees survive to enjoy the benefits of full pension; and

(d) whether Government have considered the desirability of restoration of full pension benefits immediately after full recovery of the commuted amount?

The MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF PERSONNEL, PUBLIC GRIEVANCES AND PENSIONS (SHRIMATI MARGARET ALVA): (a) and (b) The commutation value of pension is calculated on the basis of a Table of Values prescribed under the Central Civil Services (Commutation of Pension) Rules, 1981. Earlier, the commutation was a life-time commitment. Subsequent upon judgement dated 9.12.1986 of Supreme Court, the commuted pension is restored after 15 years of the commutation. It is incorrect to say that the commuted value represents a sum total of 10 years pension. Commutation is optional, and a Government Servant is entitled to commute for a lump sum payment a fraction not exceeding one-third of his pension. The pensioner is free to utilise the commuted portion of pension received by him in any manner he likes.

(c) No such data is centrally maintained by the Central Government.

(d) It has not been considered necessary to make any change in the existing system.
